Spend it Forward Goes Art: Just in time for Berlin Art Week 2020, Spend it Forward Live Market:2nd Edition is coming, this time in collaboration with curator Suzy Royal. From September 12th to 16th, we want to create a space of mutual support between artists*, Kiez culture and community at the legendary SO 36 in Die Fabrik.

Lovering, Cross, 2020

2 floors, 2 exhibitions: While the "5 Rooms/5 Artists" curated by Suzy Royal occupies the second floor, the first floor is dedicated to Die Factory of the exhibition "A Lobby of Artists".

The focus is on the works of Berlin-based artists* to whom we want to offer new platforms and marketing opportunities.

True to the Spend it Forward motto "Locals Supporting Locals", the event aims to network people who have been struggling with the negative consequences of Covid-19 since the spring. Their exchange is intended to open up new opportunities for fruitful cooperation, which will result in the formation of a crisis-proof community network to overcome the current challenges.

Participating Artists, “A Lobby of Artists” from 11 - 16 September are:

Support and Spend it Forward: For the 2nd edition of the Spend it Forward Live Markets, Die Fabrik will also provide exhibition spaces for the artists*. In return, 20% of the proceeds from the art sales go to the hotel. Community spirit and mutual support are not empty phrases, but are engaged in a very concrete way.

Hardly anything says more about community and neighborhood than sharing a meal together.

We are happy that the Pop-Up-Kitchen, Biri Bibi is joining us this time.

Biri Bibi was created in 2018 by Sarah Alikhan and brings homemade Indian (Hyderabadi) food w a California influence to the Berliner palate. With pop ups held in various bars such as Twinpigs and Geist im Glas over the years, Biri Bibi brings exciting and fresh flavor to the culinary landscape of Berlin.

The 2nd Spendit Forward Live Market is supported by Lemke Berlin and Diageo, who supply our bar with Berlin's original craft beer, Belsazar Vermouth and Tanqueray Gin for the vernissage and finissage.
